lation there, being about a corresponding decrease in the import of the drug. The reduction will not do very gradual, and perhaps may never take place at all unless the Treaty is strictly enforced, a matter as to which we are somewhat incredulous. We note that His Excellency, when exhibiting announcing the sale of the Farm at the Legation Committee on the 7th instant, referred to some ratifications on the subject which he said had been expressed. He said:—"At one time it was said that I had rather an "duly forced up the price of the Farm, and "it was anticipated that when next I should "have to dispose of the Farm, it would be "sold at a smaller figure than the current "rate, and indeed one of my officials—a man

"of great ability and a thorough knowledge "of the Colony—in a communication he "made in London to one of the gentlemen

"in the Colonial Office, expressed great ap"prehension with respect to the Opium Farm

"and he expressed the opinion in a memoran"dum, which was transmitted to me by the "Secretary of State, that there would be a "falling off in the opium revenue when the "Opium Farm was sold this year. However,

"these anticipations have not been verified."

"I have sold the Opium Farm for 1887 for

"$210,000, so there has been no falling off

"in the current revenue, which is $205,000."

"Not being in His Excellency's confidence, we "are unable to say who is referred to by him,

"but there certainly did seem good ground at

"the time when the new American Treaties

"were first published for apprehension of "the kind. The reduction of Chinese emigra"tion against their influx there is also calculated "to affect the export trade of the Opium

"Farmers. The real reason the Opium Farm

"was sold for one year only is, however, in "all probability connected with the negotia"tions going on at Peking between the Viceroy "of Chihli and Sir Thomas Wade, and the "uncertainty as to the establishment of the "proposed monopoly at Hongkong by the "Chinese Syndicate of all the Indian opium "imported. On that question, such contra"dictory rumours and statements have been "received that it is useless to indulge in "speculation on the subject. For our own

"part, we are not inclined to believe the British

"Imperial Government will ever agree to the "creation of a monopoly of the kind sug"gested, even if the Indian Government felt

"disposed to make terms with the Peking

"Authorities on such a basis."

This image shows a blank, aged, cream-colored page, likely an endpaper or flyleaf of a book. The paper has a slightly textured appearance with some minor discoloration and small dark spots, possibly due to age or handling. The left edge of the page is bound, showing the inner hinge and some stitching. The overall tone is a warm, off-white or light cream.
